From Asian Development Bank : Facilitating Foreign Exchange Risk Management for Bond Investments in ASEAN+3 before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Facilitating Foreign Exchange Risk Management for Bond Investments in ASEAN+3:

ASEAN+3 countries should consider measures that would make it easier for foreign investors to transact in the foreign exchange and foreign exchange hedging markets. Bond investors typically have a long position in local currency bond markets. To manage their foreign exchange risk, they may want to hedge that exposure for a period of time. They also want to be sure they can easily convert the local currency to dollars upon the sale of a bond.
