PAYNE By Keith Payne I have the signed first edition of this book. It is amazingly simple to read and understand given the subject matter which is utterly confusing, normally. When "mind inventing" a perfect answer to something needed in the world, you start out to get it produced and find you are soon "Dead in the Water". No Longer. With Yonover's book in hand, you will soon be on your way.....the Best Way for you;.....as he explains a variety of ways you can accomplish this. Using some of his own highly successful inventions to explain the different processes to you, you never find yourself "bogged down" and having to go back and re read. I read this book in one sitting.....took me all day and some into the night. But I understood it when I was finished reading.....no need for study until you get ready to start the actual process. You will not need anything else once you decide what you want to promote.....the book even helps you to do that. Also, Yonover has written a great copy of this but designed for children. I believe he said he came up with some of his first inventions before he was ten. With a book like this to guide him, he could well have been inventing long before he started. You have or know a child who has "ideas" or an inquiring mind? They may not be as silly as you think. You deserve this book even if you don't have an invention yet.....you soon will and you will be off on a wild and exciting adventure. KEITH PAYNE
