This book is a straightforward set of explanations regarding everything you're going to need to know before you buy a house. Worries, questions, definitions, fears -- they all get addressed by the author. She obviously has tons of experience and has been through this process with hundreds of clients. For those of us not involved in the real estate or finance worlds, the complexity of financing a house is beyond intimidating. This book set my mind at ease. One warning: you really do have to pay attention when you read, otherwise the words can flow right over you without sinking in to your brain. But if you take the time to read it and think about the information presented, you will feel MUCH more confident. I read it. I understand it. I am now ready to conquer the mortgage world!!!! (Or at least understand what everyone is talking about.) Thanks, Linda, for getting this book out to all of us regular people hoping to buy a home.

Wow! Linda really knows her stuff. I have never seen someone explain the mortgage process in such clear and simple terms before. Linda has a way of taking a very complicated subject and simplifying it. Very impressive. Easy read. First time home buyers or any home buyers for that matter should read this book.
